A Series 2 model manufactured in June 1969, 'SKG 850H' is among the last of a famous breed. Much of its history has been documented by the vendor - the fast Ford's 13th registered keeper - who has enjoyed trouble-free holidays to Ireland and France with the car. It is a relatively unmolested example, and he views the twin-cam engine (fully overhauled 10,000 miles ago) as 'very good', the transmission as 'good', the bodywork as 'sound' and the interior trim and Ermine White paintwork as 'fair'.
