This attractive Midget is a righthand drive home market example manufactured in May 1963, and therefore powered by the 1098cc version of BMC's immortal A Series engine. Between 2008 and 2010 it was treated to a bare metal restoration, during which it was repainted in its original livery of Iris Blue and treated to a complete retrim; also to original specification. The vendor has retained the car in dry storage, restricting its use to car meets and shows only. He presently grades the four-speed manual transmission as 'excellent' and the bodywork, paintwork, interior trim and four-cylinder engine as all being in 'very good' condition. Summarising the MG as 'rust free, on the button, and ready to drive away', he is now offering it complete with Heritage certificate and an MOT valid until August 17 of next year. The car's total indicated mileage currently stands at totally feasible (though unwarranted) 96,801.
