Production of BMW's E36 3 Series platform-based Z3 roadster had commenced in 1995 but development of a coupe version was left to a group of BMW engineers working in their own time. The resulting E36/8 coupe was unveiled at the 1997 Frankfurt Motor Show and shared the same platform and parts with the roadster but featured a chassis-stiffening hatch area and as a result was over two and a half times stiffer than the open car. Available from September 1998, the Z3 coupe was produced in 2.8, 3.0i and M Coupe variants.

First registered in Japan via an authorised BMW dealership, this cosseted low mileage 2.8-litre example is to LHD specification and has covered just c.39,200km to date. Finished in BMW Titansilber complimented by a red leather interior it features four speed automatic transmission and is UK registered with current MoT to October 2019. Offered with Swansea V5C document and owner's wallet with service book, audio book and owner's manual, a letter on file from BMW confirms a build date of February 15th 2000 with delivery on March 2nd 2000 to BMW Japan Corporation. One of just c.7,600 2.8 coupes built, its specification includes air-conditioning, power steering, power windows, central locking, ABS, airbags, CD player, navigation system and sunroof.
