The Mayfair had been launched in 1982 as a more luxurious version of the base Mini City and remained in production until 1996. Equipment options included 12 inch wheels, opening rear side windows, radio, head restraints, locking fuel cap and front disc brakes. By the time the Longbridge Plant finally closed in 2000, more than 5 million Minis had been built. As every-day cars most would suffer the ravages of use and time before disappearing from our roads. It is for this reason we are delighted to offer this very special survivor which has covered just 806 miles from new in the hands of one owner. Offered with its original sales invoice, book pack and a collection of old MoTs, it is said to have "excellent" 998cc engine, white paintwork, bodywork and grey interior" having been stored for most of its life. F912 GVO is accompanied by a current MoT to February 2021. Definitely one for enthusiasts and collectors of the iconic Mini.
